Land Transport Authority of Singapore Awards Contract to Trapeze Group, a Division of Constellation Software's Volaris Group for Provision of a Comprehensive Intelligent Transportation System

TORONTO, ON, March 12, 2014 – Constellation Software Inc. (TSX:CSU) today announced that the Land Transport Authority of Singapore ("LTA") has awarded a significant contract to a consortium involving Trapeze Group ("Trapeze"), a division of Constellation's wholly-owned subsidiary, Volaris Group Inc., and ST Electronics of Singapore, for the provision of a comprehensive Intermodal Transport Control System (ITCS/AVLC). The Trapeze system for LTA includes software for operations control, fleet management, passenger information and business intelligence, in addition to on-board systems such as on-board computers and touch-terminals within the bus fleet.

The LTA oversees all public transport services in Singapore provided by two operators with a total bus network fleet of approximately 4,800 vehicles. LTA's aim is to install a unified Intermodal Transport Control System (ITCS/AVL) for controlling the whole fleet of both public transport companies in order to offer travellers real-time passenger information.
